Stacey asked if the R8 Superfund site was linked to the GKM incident site, and it is. Whether to link GKM to the Superfund web site is a question, I guess. Do we need Mathy to weigh in? Probably, just to be sure.

Isn't that what people are asking us to do?

Then they will both link to each other.

I will check and ask that this link <http://www2.epa.gov/region8/upper-animas-mining-district> be added to epa.gov/goldkingmine

Totally understand. Is it currently linked to the EPA page related to the spill? If not, we should create such a link.

My related question is whether there are other public facing pages with information or documents related to Animas River/GKM that we should also be aware of and link?

Stacey, that's a standard page. You'll see the entire list of R8 Superfund sites and their detailed documentation here:
